Laser Levels, Squares, Measuring Tools

Johnson Level & Tool sells hundreds of products to contractors and do-it-yourselfers in over 30 countries around the globe. And William and Robert Johnson have successfully focused their company to be the most complete manufacturer of quality measuring and layout tools in the world. To date, they hold over 50 patents for innovative, value-added products that professionals reach for every day.

Yet, Johnson Level & Tool remains, as it began & family-owned and intent on crafting quality hand tools for the home and industry. William and Robert continue to embrace the same "can do" attitude that allowed their father, George Johnson, to hand craft that first toy level over 50 years ago. The brothers Johnson continue their family's legacy of fine craftsmanship while creating their own history from many new, exciting 21st century materials and manufacturing processes.
