Lumber Anchors & Connectors

Safety and Innovation. Plain and simple. Our primary objective is to help build safer structures. From its first year of operation, Simpson Strong-Tie has led the timber connector industry in hanger design, and we're the overwhelming choice of quality building professionals. Today, we hold more patents than all of our competition in the structural timber industry combined. In addition, our systems approach to the building process addresses complex engineering and construction issues through cutting-edge innovations in Research & Development, Testing and Manufacturing. Our customers appreciate our focus in these areas and we work each day to build on our hard-earned reputation as the industry leader.
