Drill Bits & Blades

Vermont American is the world's largest manufacturer of power tool accessories. For almost 60 years we have outfitted professional tradesmen with premium quality bits and blades designed to meet rugged jobsite requirements. Through innovative product development and engineering we continuously strive to enhance and improve on-the-job productivity. And every bit and blade carrying the Vermont American name is manufactured to exacting standards, fits any brand of power tool and comes with a prove-it-to-yourself lifetime guarantee.

Our commitments to manufacturing excellence and product innovation have been the cornerstone of Vermont American since 1948. That's when founder Lee B. Thomas Sr. received the first order for 12,000 circular saw blades from Sears, Roebuck & Company. Initially called American Saw and Tool, the company originated the manufacturing model for mass-production of the first high-quality, economical circular saw blade.
